Hello everyone,

It is time to start planning for faculty staffing in the following academic year (2020-2021). As in previous years, to request new faculty positions, please submit the Annual Plan and Resource Allocation Application through WEPR. The deadline for submission of the application is November 15, 2019. Once done with the annual plan/application, please let your dean/manager know so they can review and approve. The approvals have to be emailed to me on or before the deadline date. This is only for new full time faculty positions.

If you applied last year, were not funded, and want to be considered again this year, you do not have to submit a new application. All you have to do is let me know by email, with or without a short addendum explaining your need. The applications will be ranked in priority order by a committee consisting of the College President, Vice President(s), Academic Senate President, and Vice President (or President) of UF at CCC. Approvals for recruitment will be made based on available funding.

Unlike last year, there are no additional funds available for new positions. Therefore, new faculty positions will be determined by the number of retirements/resignations received throughout the current academic year, as well as an ongoing assessment of the college's financial status. If you have any questions or need more information, please contact me.
